We will do this by applying an evidence-led approach to sustainability, identifying the potential for cost savings wherever possible and committing to environmental policies and standards in the following areas:

Our decisions

We will:

- 'Climate proof' decisions to ensure they reduce our contribution to climate change and help us prepare for the impacts and opportunities of unavoidable climate change

- Seek to embrace new environmental technology and methodologies to ensure we are at the leading edge of developments and solutions, within a well managed risk-analysis and cost-benefit framework.
